

Texas Women to Fight It Out for Golf Crown

Oklahoma City, June 23 — (AP) — A couple of Texans turned to golfing to settle an old score as the Western Women's Open golf tournament went into its quarterfinal round today.

Babe Didrikson Zaharias, Fort Arthur and Polly Alley, Fort Worth, were to tee off at 1:15 p. m. in the first of four quarterfinal contests.

The Babe, who has won more golf tournaments than she has had birthdays, was boxed around by Polly in the last year's Texas open tournament to the time of 10:9 — the worst defeat in her long career in competitive golf.

Wonder the Babe would like to settle accounts — but she'll have to wait until the 18 holes which she will do it.

Another contest will feature defending champion Betty Berr, of Washington, D. C., and Beverly Hanson, of the sweet-swinging Fargo, N. D.

Professional Louise Suggs, western open winner in 1946 and 1947, will play against Marjorie Lindsay, Decatur, Ill., and professional Betty Harrison, San Antonio, opposite Cheryl Durringer, Tiffin, O.

Mrs. Zaharias survived a lot of bad blows to beat national amateur champion Grace Lenzyk, of Washington, Conn., 2:1 in the second round. A hooked tee shot which she a penalty stroke and a three green enabled the Babe to triumph after Grace evened the match on the 14th hole.

Mrs. Alley turned back a late challenge of Dorothy Kirby, Atlanta, to win, 2-1.

Aluminum Workers in Arkansas to Strike Soon

Little Rock, June 23 — (AP) — A strike vote among some 1,600 aluminum workers in Arkansas is being taken soon.

The men are members of the United Steel Workers of America (U. S. W. A.) and employees of the Reynolds Metal Company.

James Dickerson, union director for Arkansas, Texas, and Oklahoma, said negotiations looking to a pension plan and other items, had broken down and that strike vote would be taken within three days.

Employees at the aluminum plants at Jones Mill, Hurricane Creek and the mines at Bauxite would be affected.

'Easement' Seems to Be More of What Meet Implied Than What Was Carried Out

By DEWITT MacKENZIE, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Moscow's Communist party organ Pravda reaches the general conclusion that the Big Four foreign ministers' conference in Paris has aided in "easing" the international atmosphere.

We may accept that appraisal guardedly as correct, I believe, although we reach the conclusion by a different route than Pravda. Moreover, this easing would seem to have been achieved more because of what the conference proceedings imply than because of what they specifically carry out.

The atmosphere of the conference was that of a truce marking a forced halt to the great offensive which the Moscovites have waged since the end of the world war to extend Communist domination westwards towards the English channel. The counter drives by the western democracies (the Marshall plan, the Atlantic pact, aid to Greece and Turkey, and so on) have been effective. The dangers of another global war have receded.

So the world does breathe easier. At the same time it knows or certainly should know — that this isn't the finish of the conflict of the isms. That will continue, perhaps long after your time and mine. But so far as the western world is concerned, the immediate future to be confined largely to fifth column activities which are aimed at crippling non-Communist countries economically and spreading the Red drive. Meanwhile, as Secretary of State Acheson told the senate foreign relations committee, Russia intends to hold onto the gains she has made.

President Truman in his statement about the conference Tuesday found that "genuine progress" was made toward the conclusion of a treaty with Austria. He pointed out that during the four years since war's end Austria has been under a regime of occupation, although at the first Moscow conference in 1943 it was solemnly declared that she was to be regarded not as an enemy country but as a liberated country, the first victim of Nazi aggression. Certain Soviet claims placed obstacles in the way of speedy conclusion of a treaty.

Mr. Truman said the Austrian people "should be commended for their attitude of patient understanding throughout the protracted negotiations." I had a close-up of that attitude in March of '48 when I visited Austria, which then was suffering from the scourge of privation and was hamstrung by the occupation.

Transfer of Electric Chair Delays Execution

Little Rock, June 23 — (AP) — Execution of Harvie Rorie for beating and burning to death his estranged wife and her two children has been postponed because the electric chair won't be ready on the original date.

The chair is being moved to a new execution chamber at Tucker prison farm.

Henry Woods, Governor McMath executive secretary, said yesterday the electrocution would be deferred from July 1 to July 8. Rorie was convicted in Jefferson circuit court. The supreme court has upheld the death sentence.

An appeal was expected today in the death sentence of Wiley Hildreth, Lee county Negro, scheduled to die tomorrow for rape. An appeal automatically stays the sentence.

McClellan Backs Public Works Program

Washington, June 23 — (AP) — A new $10,000,000 public works planning program has been proposed in the senate.

The bill would authorize the money for loans to public agencies for planning works to be built when the economic situation makes construction advisable.

Sponsors include senator McClellan of Arkansas.

Mercury Hits 100 Degrees in Arkansas

By The Associated Press

Temperatures have reached a peak of 100 degrees in Arkansas. And, says the U. S. weather bureau in Little Rock, there is "more of the same" in store for the state during the next "four or five days."

The mercury climbed to the 100 degree mark at El Dorado Wednesday, the first time it has hit that level this year.

Temperatures in other sections of Arkansas were slightly lower. The weather bureau said the lowest reported reading in the state was at Jonesboro with 89 degrees.

Other temperatures: Texarkana and Fort Smith 97, Pine Bluff 95, Little Rock 92, Camden, Hot Springs 95, and Harrison 92.

East Arkansas Young Men Name New Officers

Little Rock, June 23 — (AP) — Bryan Huffaker of Bald Knob today was elected president of the East Arkansas Young Men's clubs, sponsors of the Miss Arkansas beauty contest.

The association met in connection with the 1949 contest underway here.

Other officers elected: Paul Chambers, Helena, first vice president; Bill Headstream, Batesville, second vice president; O. B. Scott, Paragould, third vice president; Jimmy Scroggins, Helena, secretary; Marvin Parks, Cabot, treasurer; and Eagle Boyd, Jr., Des Arc, sergeant-at-arms.

The 1950 beauty pageant was awarded to Helena.

Stuttgart Man Accused of Raping Divorcee

Stuttgart, June 23 — (UP) — Edward Mobry, a DeWitt night club operator, was bound over to the Arkansas county grand jury today, accused of raping a 29-year-old divorcee last June 16.

He waived hearing in municipal court yesterday and was released under $5,000 bond.

The Stuttgart woman charged that the man assaulted her twice after picking her up and taking her to a golf course north of Stuttgart.

The word "barbarian" was first used by the Greeks to mean "foreigners" but it later came to mean a bad or savage person.

Five Main Features of Home Building

Hundreds of new homes continue to go up in Hempstead county. Families planning to build or remodel their homes find there are five features that are very important for convenient living and working arrangements.

Home Demonstration Agent Lorraine Blackwood listed these as:

1. Entrances to both living and work rooms that are convenient to the main driveway, which also should be well located in relation to the farm buildings.
2. Well-located kitchen, with view of drive and farm buildings. This has a number of advantages, such as enabling the housewife to see persons arriving, keep in touch with children playing outdoors, and have a watchful eye on the farmstead when the men are in the fields.
3. Good traffic lanes, so that all parts of the house may be reached without passing through the kitchen areas and other centers of activity.
4. Adequate work areas for preparing and preserving food.
5. Adequate dining area in kitchen — enough space to serve and eat regular meals.

If your house does not include these "farmhouse specials," let your county Extension agents help you to plan your building or remodeling. Mrs. Blackwood stated:

Among the many plans that may be obtained from the county Extension office free of charge, are those for houses, kitchen cabinets, lawn furniture, and homemade laundry equipment, she pointed out.

Sleitz Favored in Southwest Tennis Match

Little Rock, June 23 — (AP) — One man was top-seeded but another was favored as the Southwest open tennis tournament got under way at the Little Rock country club today.

As defending champion, Harcourt Waters of New Orleans was seeded No. 1 automatically.

But most observers looked at the second-seeded player, University of Southern California Ace John Sleitz of Los Angeles as the most likely to survive the four-day court grind in men's singles.

Third-seeded was Chick Harris of Rice Institute, southwest collegiate champ. George Dunklin of Pine Bluff, Arkansas state champion and runner-up to Waters last year, was seeded fourth.

Rounding out the group of eight seeded players, in order, are Bob Goldfarb and Felix Kelley, both of the University of Texas, Steve Potts, Jr., Vanderbilt netter from Memphis, and Ken Crawford of Dallas.

Top-ranked in the junior singles division was Jack Turpin, Dallas.

The women's favorite was Peggy Eby of Houston.

Bagpipes were used by the ancient Romans. The Emperor Nero played one.

DOROTHY DIX

Discontented Young Wife

Dear Miss Dix: At the time I was married, a little more than two years ago, I had two proposals. One was from a man much older than myself but who was wealthy and could have had better clothes and money and pleasure. The other was from a poor young man but who was making a fairly comfortable salary. I was ecstatically thrilled in love with him, and a love of two or three rooms sounded like heaven. So we were married. But our marriage is a failure. If we had more money and I could have had better clothes and more, perhaps we would not have got upon each other's nerves so badly, and I would not have much regret not having married the richer man. My husband has not as good a job as he had when we were married. Love in a cottage is not as it is depicted.

ANSWER: Whichever one of your two suitors you married, June, you would have wished that you had married the other. You married the young man you loved and you are disgruntled because he cannot give you pretty frocks and fine cars and take you to expensive places of amusement, but if you had married the old man who could give you all these things you would be eating dirt out of that sort of prize package for love and romance.

The trouble with you is that you ask too much of life. You want everything. You want love and romance and riches and pleasures, and it is mighty seldom that Fate hands out that sort of prize package to a woman. Mostly we have to take the bitter with the sweet, the drawbacks with the advantages.

Of course, every woman would like to marry a Fairy Prince and have a husband who was equally good at raising thrills in her breast and making money, but there are very few Fairy Princes in these prosaic days, and mostly a girl has to choose between the poor man who is young enough for her to love and the old man who can give her the luxuries she wants.

Money Cannot Buy Happiness
And I contend that she has a far better chance for happiness with a poor young man than with a rich old one and that it is better to have love than it is to have imported Paris frocks. Anyway happiness is a state of mind and it depends on one's attitude toward life, not on what one has. Money will not buy it nor will material things insure it. Some of the most miserable people I have ever known were the richest and many of the happiest were the poorest.

In your case you have all the raw materials for happiness in your hands and you are wilfully throwing them away. You have a good husband, a good home, enough to live on comfortably. If you would make the best of these they would fill your life so completely that you would not pine for unobtainable luxuries.

If you would honestly try to be a real helpmeet to your husband and to help him build his fortune, if you would interest yourself in his work and try to be an inspiration to him, you would not get upon each other's nerves. You would be chums and companions who would never talk out. Perhaps the reason why your husband hasn't as good a position now as he had when you married is because you have taken the heart out of him by your discontent and repining over his not being able to give you all that a rich husband could have given you.

My advice to you is to brace up and do your part toward making a happy home. You won't find your happiness on your own doorstep if you look hard enough for it.

DOROTHY DIX
Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a girl of 16 and in about six months I expect to become a mother. I have a stepmother who has always disliked me very much and who is turning my father against me and I dare not think what they will do when they find out. The boy in the case is willing to marry me, but I know that he no longer loves me and is only offering to do so from a sense of duty, and I love him so much that I will commit suicide.

Miss Coplon Backs Out of Russian Visit

Washington, June 22—(AP)—Judith Coplon said today she considered visiting Russia in the spring of 1948, but dropped the idea.

John M. Kelley, Jr., a government prosecutor in her trial on charges of stealing government secrets to give to the Russians, drew out the story with a series of questions.

It was the sixth day for Miss Coplon on the witness stand and the third day in which she had been cross-examined by Kelley. Kelley said he expects to complete his questioning of the 28-year-old former justice department political analyst before the end of the day.

Miss Coplon said she abandoned the thought of visiting Russia without applying to the Soviet embassy in Washington for a visa. She had denied yesterday that she ever had any intention of going to Russia with Valentine A. Gubichev, a Russian engineer with whom she was arrested March 4.

Kelley brought this up again, then asked her if she had not inquired whether it would be possible for her to visit Russia in the spring of 1948.

She replied that she did. She added quickly that the implication of Kelley's earlier question was that she considered going to Russia to live.

She then went into considerable detail about her discussions over the possibility of visiting Russia "in an objective sense to see what it was like and not because I was in love with the country."

She said she discussed the matter with William E. Foley, her chief when she worked in the justice department, and asked him if he thought there was any chance for her "getting behind the iron curtain."

Even while she considered visiting Russia, she testified, she never thought the Russians would let her in because of her job in the justice department.

She said she discussed the matter with the American Automobile association travel bureau on one occasion but soon thereafter "forgot all about it."

Foley told her, Miss Coplon added, that people might misunderstand her visiting Russia in an "objective sense." She mentioned the house committee on un-American activities.

The tiny brunette defendant insisted, however, that she never told anyone she was going to apply to the Soviet embassy for a visa "because I never thought I

Fulbright Raps RFC for Aiding Failing Business

Washington, June 23—(AP)—The reconstruction finance corporation shouldn't make a policy of helping a failing firm when its workers can get employment elsewhere, thinks Senator Fulbright of Arkansas.

He said it "seems absolutely wrong" for the RFC to make loans for such firms.

Fulbright expressed his view yesterday in a senate banking committee hearing, at which he presided.

The hearing was called in connection with a bill to forbid RFC employees from taking a job with any company to which they may have had a part in granting a loan. However, it never got around to that subject.

Card First Sacker Doing Fine Job

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Quick now, who is the regular first baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals?
The average baseball fan probably has to think twice before answering "Vernon Nippy" Jones, but the 24-year-old sophomore first baseman, in his colorless, but efficient way, is doing a bang-up job for Manager Eddie Dyer.

In the Cards last nine games with Brooklyn, Philadelphia and New York, Jones has wrecked enemy pitching for 17 hits in 38 times at bat. He's driven in 17 runs and boosted his season mark 41 points to a respectable .311.

Jones collected three hits last night to help the Cards defeat the Giants, 11-8. The victory moved the Redbirds to within a half game of the first place Brooklyn Dodgers, who were defeated by the Reds in Cincinnati, 4-3.

Cincinnati had to go 11 innings to defeat the Dodgers. Three successive singles by Peanuts Lowrey, Grady Hatton and Walker Cooper furnished the winning run after two were out. Ewell Blackwell pitching two and a third innings of relief, received credit for his first victory of the season.
A trio of homers by Herman Reich, Hank Sauer and Pitcher Dewey Adkins helped the last place Chicago Cubs outlast the Boston Braves, 9-8. Bob Muncie, one of the 10 pitchers used in the game, was credited with his first victory as a Cub.

Dino Restelli, rookie Pittsburgh outfielder, celebrated the end of his first week in the majors by blasting two homers—his fourth and fifth—to lead the Pirates to a 12-3 triumph over Robin Roberts and the Philadelphia Phillies. Vic Lombardi went all the way to notch his first victory of the season.

Riegel Still Favorite in Tournament

Colorado Springs, Colo., June 22 —(AP)—The Trans-Mississippi golf tournament entered the fourth round today with Skeel Riegel, the defending champion, still the favorite.

Riegel, of Tulsa, Okla., had a rough afternoon yesterday. A young University of Denver law student, Al Norbont, played him all even through the 14th before blowing the match.
As Norbont's shots started going wild, Riegel took the next three holes to post a 3 and 1 victory—his second of the day. Earlier he had scored an easy 7-6 second round win over Charles Chapman of Denver.

Riegel was scheduled to lead off the fourth round of match play this morning against big, hard-hitting A. B. Potter of Oklahoma. Claude Wright of Denver, who were Claude Wright of Denver, 2-up, and C. C. Joyce, Jr., of Palestine, Tex., 4-3.

Riegel's Walker cup teammate, Charles Coe of Ardmore, Okla., still hasn't been pressed but might encounter worthy opposition today from Jim Vickers of Wichita, Kas. Coe posted his second and third one-sided triumphs yesterday, defeating John C. Kelley of Sioux City, Ia., 6-5, and Dick Taylor of Phoenix, Ariz., 5-4. Vickers ousted John Goodwin of Kansas City 2-1 and Harold Van Burg of Lincoln, 4-2.

At Birmingham Brake set down the Chiefs on five hits.

Thursday night's games: Little Rock at Atlanta (2). Memphis at Birmingham. Chattanooga at Mobile. Nashville at New Orleans.

Bears Rap Out 17 Hits to Take Noogans

By The Associated Press
Mobile's Bears cut loose with 17 hits for all their runs in the first three innings as they blanked the Lookouts of Chattanooga 12 to 0, in the most lopsided game in the Southern Association Wednesday night.
Bobo Newson, who had the Bears well under control the last time he visited Mobile, was pulled in the second inning, the loser.

The league-leading Crackers of Atlanta made it five straight wins by edging the Little Rock Travseven innings to receive credit for his seventh victory. Carl Schreib was the loser.

Texas, Wake Forrest Like College Baseball Winners

Wichita, Kas., June 23 —(P)—The Wake Forest Demons and Texas Longhorns meet in the winner's bracket game of the national collegiate athletic association's championship baseball tournament at 8 p. m. (CST) tonight.

Paired in the second game of the double elimination tourney are southern California, the 1948 national collegiate champion, and St. John's of Brooklyn. The loser in this game, scheduled for 11 o'clock, will be eliminated from championship consideration.

Wake Forest defeated Southern California 2-1 in the top of the tenth inning in first round play last night as Gene Hooks doubled home pitcher Harry Nicholas.

Texas swarmed over St. John's 7-1 in the opener, the Longhorns backing pitcher Murray Wall's eight-hit job with a timely attack.

First baseman Tom Hamilton cracked two home runs for the Texans.
The championship will be settled Saturday.

CLIPPED ANGEL

By Clive

Cornish

The mill superintendent was there, a kind-faced old boy who could have played loyal-family-retainer parts without make-up.

The Story: Mike McTalg, a mining engineer, who is telling this story, had been planning a vacation till he met Cory. Friendly, beautiful and high-spirited daughter of Parboiled Parnell, an old friend of Mike's. Cory had inherited the Dark Angel, a good producing gold mine, after Parnell's death. Now the production has been dropping off from $15 a ton to $5 a ton. Mike, convinced that no woman can run a mine, is patronizing and there is a display of the Parnell temper which ends when Mike spansks Cory then takes her out to dinner. The next day Mike visited Doug Weyman, a lawyer friend who had brought about the meeting between Mike and Cory, and Mike tells Doug he's going to go to Cory's mine and look around for the trouble.

Like Cory, the Dark Angel mine had changed considerably since he had last seen it 15 years ago. At that time Parboiled Parnell was skidding hand-picked high-grade ore down the mountain in rawhide sacks, digging out perhaps 500 pounds a day. Now a modern 200-ton ball-mill filled the air with noise, and a dismal gray tailings dump fanned out halfway across the valley, making the place hideous.

"The mine itself was in Umbrella Mountain, so called because of its numerous ravines cut the sides and the ridges between stuck out like ribs. Dark Angel, was between the biggest two ribs. The vein system, as I remember it, was a honey. It struck right through the mountain, almost vertically, so that all a miner had to do was cut ore chutes between the different working levels and gravity did the dirty work. The stuff tumbled down to the main haulage level, about 100 feet above the valley floor, and was carted out and dumped right into the mill bunkers. You couldn't have asked for a nicer set-up in a small mine."

Cory came around to the company boarding house after breakfast next morning and took me over to the office.

"This is Uncle Jake," Cory said. "Jake Whitmaker, that is—he's not really my uncle. Uncle Jake has been with the Dark Angel from the very beginning."

Uncle Jake was pleased to meet me, but it took a little while for him to get it because of his asthma. We shook hands and turned to the other party present, a young fellow.

"This is Archie Trask," Cory said. "Archie, Mike McTalg, Archie is in charge of everything underground. He's been with us for 10 years."

Trask was an open-faced, good-looking lad in his early 30's. I didn't see why Cory dragged him in the south-western angle, and I wondered what had kept him out of the late, great unpleasantness, but we shook hands anyway, and the four of us sat down around the office table.

"Mike is here," Cory announced. "to see if he can find out why our mill-heads are running only $5 a ton instead of the $15 they used to run."

It was a shock to the boys. Uncle Jake began, "But, Cory thought we'd decided. I'd and trailed off into disconnected silence. Trask's jaw dropped for a moment, then he snapped it shut angrily.

Cory made haste to explain. "My theory is we've been looking so long and so hard we've discouraged, whereas an outsider, with a completely fresh slant might find the answer right under our noses."

It was a reasonable explanation, but nobody likes to have it implied they've fallen down on the job. You could sense an atmosphere of injured pride, and that wasn't going to help me in my investigation.

I tried to fix things up. "I've been told the Dark Angel is one of the best-run mines in the West. If these two gentlemen can't make it pay, Cory then I doubt if I'll be of much use to you."

Uncle Jake stopped looking as if he'd like to cry and Trask thawed noticeably.

"However," I said, "we'll hope for the best—and I might say I'll be very grateful for any assistance you two can give me."

"If anything happens to me, I want you to take care of my little girl and I've never forgotten it," Mr. McTalg, not for a moment. He put his hand over Cory's with an affectionate uncle-ish gesture.

I couldn't see Parboiled Parnell rushing, even on his deathbed, and furthermore, from what I'd seen, daddy's little girl could take care of herself quite nicely, thank you. I didn't like the way Uncle Jake kept his hand over Cory's, and I don't think Archie Trask did either. In fact, I was rapidly developing a dislike of the whole set-up, felt better when Cory pulled her hand free with a little wiggle of impatience.

"Well," I said, "suppose we get down to prosaic details like sampling, assaying, the mill-flow sheet and things like that."

I outlined what I had in mind, then I asked about assays and who'd been doing them. "We have our own assayer," Uncle Jake said. "He's a good man; I picked him out myself."

I said I doubted if he could handle all the work I'd have for him during the next week. Trask put in, "Biggs is fast and he's accurate. Besides, if we have to send samples to Seattle it means delay and extra expense."

"All right," I said, "we'll use your lad. Now, if you'll let me have a look at your flow-sheet." (To Be Continued)

Arming Europe Necessary Says Acheson

Washington, June 22 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said today that the North Atlantic pact and approval of the arms assistance program are of "utmost importance" to this country's dealings with Soviet Russia.

He told the senate foreign relations committee at a closed session that the outcome of the Big Four foreign ministers' conference at Paris "reemphasizes" the need for action at this session of congress on these key administration measures.

"This is necessary in order that we may continue our firm policy in Europe and maintain the momentum which has been stimulated by that policy," Acheson said.

"This morning in my opinion, was responsible for the lifting of the Berlin blockade, the convening of the council of foreign ministers and the accomplishments at that meeting."

A day after his return from the Paris meeting, Acheson gave a report to the senate committee at a two hour session. He issued a 250 word statement to reporters afterward which said:

"Prior to my departure from Paris to attend a meeting of the council of foreign ministers, I met with the senior foreign relations committee in executive session, outlining the programs we expected to face and discussing our plans. I have just met again with the members of the committee. I reported upon the conference and discussed with the committee the possible effect of developments at the conference on our plans for the future."

"I have taken this opportunity to express to the committee my confidence that although some worthwhile progress was made at Paris in reaching agreement on a modus vivendi for Germany, and on the principle points of difference on the Austria peace treaty, the failure of the conference to obtain satisfactory and firm agreement on the economic and political unification of Germany illustrates the still widely divergent views on basic

Anti-Mask Bill Up in Alabama

Montgomery, Ala., June 22 (UP)—Alabama's fight on hooded violence and night-riding received new impetus today when the Mize bill to outlaw the mask was reported favorably by unanimous vote of the house judiciary committee.

This action came promptly, without discussion by committee members, after a one-hour hearing in which representatives of the Ku Klux Klan strongly opposed the anti-masking bill and denied the Klan had been responsible for recent incidents of mob violence by hooded men in the Birmingham area.

Immediately after the committee action, the Klan announced it would carry on its fight against unmasking by "taking to the air" all over the state.

ham, director of the board of governors of the federated Ku Klux Klans, made the announcement.

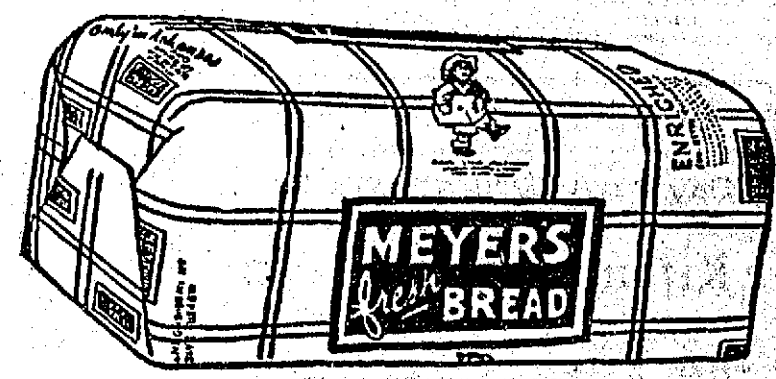

He said the Klan would "go on the air by radio, by loudspeaker trucks, or in any other way that was necessary to give the facts about floggings to the people of Alabama."

Asked when this would begin, Morris replied, "as soon as arrangements can be made this week."

It is expected the Mize bill, which passed the senate Friday by a vote of 23 to 3, will be called for passage in the house next Tuesday. That is the earliest that the bill could be acted on, and it would have to be made a special order of business to be taken up at that time.

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler
Copyright, 1947
By King Features Syndicate.

New York, June 21 —An old-line Connecticut Democrat surveyed the color-press view from the tenth tee—the New England white steeple, beautiful against the full summer greenery, the mist and the cotton clouds.

"It looks the same," he said, "but it isn't our Connecticut any more. They took us over. We ran the party machine for them and now it is theirs. They used our old Democratic name and the Irish names of the old leaders. It is like when an old honored family name in business goes to seed and the heirs neglect things. Strangers in. They use the old man's name on grandsons for a front and they still carry the name over the door. That is what has happened in Connecticut. The Americans for Democratic Action are the hidden owners of the Democratic party. Governor Bowles is not a Democrat. He is a tool of the A. D. A. for Connecticut. I am not a front for the Irish-Catholic vote, waiting on trade for the real owners who are all kinds except Democrats."

The A. D. A. is a splinter in the clandestine European mode. In New York the Democratic party is a front for the American Labor party, the equivalent of the old Communist party. It is also a sort of holding company for the Liberal party which is a private, household party of the garment work union. This party's literature and its orators frankly acknowledge a paramount interest in foreign lands. The Democratic party also is the illegitimate thing called the Four Freedoms party that has hatched a few weeks ago to catch votes for Franklin D. Roosevelt. When the Democrats refused the Young Roosevelt plan against the Democratic can did a tie in that ominously un-American campaign for the seat left by the late Sol Bloom. His Democratic opponent was Judge Ben Shalleck, respected by the Jewish community and a Democrat of impeccable regularity. Roosevelt ran on two tickets, the Liberal, which is operated as a personal concern by David Dubinsky, the president of the garment workers, and the Four Freedoms. He beat Shalleck, the Democrat. How? Why?

George Sokolsky, who lives in the district, is a scholar and philosopher, an orator and a journalist of courage and force. He is the son of a rabbi. He calls himself a reformed Jew but "with orthodox feelings." He practices his religion faithfully while others who practice no religion at all have tried to get him fired for "anti-Semitism."

"On the sidewalk during that campaign I discovered that the elements of American government were beyond the imaginations, of many of these people," Mr. Sokolsky wrote. "The word 'Republican' had no European meaning, therefore, for them, no American meaning. The word 'Democratic' means really, 'social' Democratic in the continuing European sense. The President ruled this country as Stalin or Hitler ruled his, only the American President was a good ruler. Congress for them had no meaning."

"One candidate had been to the new state of Israel and he marked that to his credit. Junior Roosevelt announced that he would go after election."

Connecticut's population is mostly native-born. Yet the same fateful decline toward Europeanism is proceeding. The Democratic party is just a title, a trademark and the old American Democrats are living on borrowed money, strangers in their own house.

In the houses of representatives a few weeks ago, majority Leader McCormack, a New England Democrat of the helpless, captive Americanist, arose to say that Edward Herbert of Louisiana was not properly entitled to the privileges of a Democratic member because he supported Governor Thurmond of South Carolina, for president. Therefore, Herbert was allowed to sit as a Democrat "only through tolerance."

Mr. Herbert replied he was elected on the Democratic ticket whereas F. D. R., Jr., was not a Democrat in any sense. "He was elected as a member of Dubinsky's private political party, the Liberal party, and he will have the approval of a party called the Four Freedoms," said Mr. Herbert. I confess I never heard of that. He was so actively supported by the so-called Americans for Democratic action, the left-wing fraction which split the Democratic party wide open in Philadelphia with the so-called civil rights plank. It was this wing which caused some southern delegations to walk out. This same A. D. A. tried to ditch Truman in favor of Eisenhower or Douglas. Four years ago in its Chicago convention this A. D. A. actually declared it owed allegiance to neither the Democrats nor Republicans but would go along with the Democratic party for the time being because, through this medium, it could accomplish some of its ends."

Yet McCormack fawned on young Roosevelt and his mother, who founded the A. D. A.

McCormack and even Truman are not merely helpless, like a man in a terrible dream or a bird before a snake. Worse, they have guilt like the small Connecticut local leader, the Irish Democrat of the ancient stock, who inwardly knew that he was having traffic with a man in a diabolical enemy but couldn't bring himself to throw down party loyalty and be an American at all cost. We are far on our way toward the fate of France where splinters and parasites multiplied and spread confusion and even professional politicians groped and reeled into the pit.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.

New York, June 23 —(AP)—Johnny Mize, currently a bench-rider with the New York Giants, probably will play first base for the National League in the all-star game next month. . . Johnny was benched in favor of Joe Lafata because he wasn't hitting in his old style and was fielding in his old style. . . Nevertheless he forged ahead in the batting when Eddie Waitkus was shot. . . Maybe that shows why the pennant races are so close. The Veterans like Mize are slipping a bit, but no newcomers have appeared who are good enough to knock the old-timers off the all-star list. . . The batting, in fact, shows only two real standouts—Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson and Detroit's George Kell, until you get down to the outfielders. There's no doubt that the six guys on top in that department are real pros who belong on anybody's all-star team.

Reverse English. Speaking of all-star games, Bob Feller isn't the only guy who doesn't like to pitch in them. Lefty Covington, a colorful character who pitches for the Tampa Smokers, was sounding off recently about the Florida International League's all-star contest the other night. "I'm too valuable to my team to work my arm off for a gold baseball," Lefty protested. "I can't live on the honor—my grocer still charges me 15 cents a loaf for bread."

Owner Tom Spicola intervened with the command: "If you feel that way, Lefty, then don't pitch. But just don't pitch and keep your mouth shut about it." John McMullan, reporting the incident for the Miami Daily News, commented: "For years Lefty has been told by various exasperated managers and owners to shut up and pitch. Now, for the first time, he had been told the reverse—don't pitch but shut up."

Sportsmentals. The pre-season football brochure from Texas Christian U. devotes three full pages to quarterback Lindy Berry. Suppose they'd be mad if somebody picked Lindy for an All-American team? . . . Gardner Dickinson of Louisiana State, who tied for the medal with a record score in the NCAA golf tournament last year but didn't get it, will be back for another shot next week. Gardner had to leave right after the qualifying round to report at ROTC camp, and rules specify that a medalist must play at least one match.

3-Way Tie in Regular Skeet Shoot

Bud Price, Jim Wilson and Sonny Griffin broke 49-50 in regular shooting yesterday at Hope Skeet Club and darkness finally forced a flip of a coin between Wilson and Griffin for top prize. Young Griffin won the toss.

Actually high scorer for the day was Johnny Wilson who broke 50 straight but was not eligible for the prize as other shooters were almost through before he started.

Mrs. Bud Price won the ladies prize donated by Crescent Drug Store. Shooters were from Stamps, Nashville, Garland, Lewisville and Columbus. Straights were shot by Will Scandland, Lewisville, Manuel Hamm, Sonny Griffin, Charles Bryan, of Hope, Johnny and Jim Wilson of Columbus and Bud Price of Garland.

Slugfest Won By Legion 14-9 Over Nashville

By George Dobson

Hitters had a paradise last night at Fair park when the Hope Legion outslugged the Nashville Cubs 14-9 to defeat Bud Dillard who was called in from Mineral Springs Flyers to pitch the game for Nashville. Manager Clyde Zimm used four pitchers to try to stop the sluggering Cubs who Jack McClendon getting credit for the win.

Milton Dillard started on the mound and had things going his own way until the heat forced him out of the game. Dillard pitched effective ball his 4 and one-third innings. Flarety came on in the fifth, but was knocked around by a country cousin until Gough took over, and he was equally greeted. Jack McClendon finally took over in the 8th and went on to win.

Nashville jumped into an early lead in the first 1-0 on two doubles. The Legion came back in the third on the count of one single by Anderson and double by Bob White. Score: Hope 1 Nashville 1.

In the bottom of the fourth, with two out and the bases loaded, Bob White picked on a 3-2 pitch and drove it over the right field wall for a home run to put the Legion on front 5-1. The lead was short lived as the Cubs came back hard in the top of the fifth to rack up four tallies to tie the count 5-5. The Legion jumped back hard in the bottom of the fifth to count two home runs from 7-5, but in the top of the sixth, Flarety and Gough both tried to hold the Cubs, but to no avail as the visitors counted three times to go to the front 8-7.

It looked like the score would stay that way the rest of the game as Dilly settled down in the sixth and seventh to stop the locals cold. Jack McClendon took over the mound duties in the top of the eighth to stop the Cubs, and then lead off the bottom of the 8th with a driving double against the right-center field wall. Gough there on it was the Legion all the way as they counted seven times before the fire was put out. The big eighth was highlighted by doubles by J. McClendon, and Charles Kennedy. In the top of the ninth, the Cubs put on a mild threat, but it was snuffed out by McClendon as he struck out Bub Dilly to end the game.

Bob White and Denzil Ross were the hitting stars. White collected two hits in four trips driving in five runs. One of Bobs hits was a grand slam homer in the 4th. Ross collected three hits in four trips. Frank Hale also added to his hitting with two for four.

Tonight at Fair park the Hope Jr. Legion will take on Hot Springs and the tomorrow night Curtis invades Hope for a battle with the Senior Legions and Denzil Ross will pitch.

The Legion junior game starts at 7 o'clock. Admission is 15 and 35 cents.

McCormack and even Truman are not merely helpless, like a man in a terrible dream or a bird before a snake. Worse, they have guilt like the small Connecticut local leader, the Irish Democrat of the ancient stock, who inwardly knew that he was having traffic with a man in a diabolical enemy but couldn't bring himself to throw down party loyalty and be an American at all cost. We are far on our way toward the fate of France where splinters and parasites multiplied and spread confusion and even professional politicians groped and reeled into the pit.

Charles Eager to Defend Heavy Title

Chicago, June 23 —(UP)—Ezzard Charles won the National Boxing association's recognition as world heavyweight champion by outpointing Jersey Joe Walcott last night, and he was ready today to fight any other contender to prove himself undisputed champion.

The Slender Cincinnati Negro won a close 15-round decision over 35-year-old Walcott before 25,932 fans at Comiskey park in a fight that was generally entertaining although it slowed in the late rounds. It drew a gross gate of $240,946, and $35,000 for television receipts. Charles outweighted by 13 3/4 pounds but younger by eight years, won the verdict of the three ring officials because his margins of victory in the various rounds were greater than those of Jersey Joe. The three officials voted a total of 233 points for Charles and 217 for Walcott.

At a victory party immediately following the fight, Charles' manager, Jake Mizzi, announced that he was going to London for the Sept. 8 bout between Lee Savold and England's Bruce Woodcock to defend a challenge at the winner for a fight with the new NBA champ.

A meeting between Charles and the London winner would be recognized as for the undisputed crown by the New York and Massachusetts commission and by the British boxing board of control—none of which recognized Charles as result of last night's battle.

On a round-by-round basis, the United Press scored the Walcott-Charles fight even, giving each six rounds and calling three even. However, the United Press scored 76 points for Charles and 74 for Jersey Joe.

On a warm, clear night Ezzard and Jersey Joe fought for the title that Joe Louis gave up last March—the title Louis won in Comiskey park exactly 12 years previously by knocking out Jim Braddock in the eighth round.

There were no knockdowns during the bout, but Walcott half-spun, half-threw Charles to the canvas in the seventh round. Charles suffered cuts over and under his left eye. His left cheek was badly puffed, and his lower lip was split. Walcott's upper lip suffered a slight gash, and his left cheek was swollen.

The fight was a see-saw affair in which neither was able to click off a cluster of rounds. Charles won the third, fourth, seventh, eighth, ninth, 10th, 11th and fought on even terms in the ninth, 13th and 15th.

Reorganization Plans Must Be Studied

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 23 —(AP)—When you see some of the plans to reorganize the government, it's like looking through the window of an antique shop where someone has thrown the furniture around.

The plans, which are trying to straighten out the mess show what a hodge-podge the government has become over a great many years. It's a machine that's been patched and pieced together.

That's why congress set up a 12 man commission, headed by former President Hoover, to study the government and suggest ways of improving it. The commission made 287 recommendations.

And that's why, following those recommendations — although not in every detail — President Truman this week asked congress to okay on putting through seven plans. He'll offer more later. Here's an example of one of his plans:

Transfer the bureau of employment security from the federal security administration, which deals with health and welfare, to the labor department. Why?

Because the bureau handles the government's part in the pay the states give unemployed workers. Since that involves labor, he thinks the bureau ought to be in the labor department, whose whole job is with workers.

That's an example of a special agency, created at some time or other, to handle a special job. At the time it seemed all right to put it one place. Now it's clear it really belongs somewhere else.

Here's another: Mr. Truman wants the public roads administration — which, after all, deals with transportation — placed in the commerce and transportation department, which deals

SWIMMERS "SALVAGE" SCUTTLED SHIP—Seen through the window of a seaside apartment, residents of Tel Aviv, Israel, flock to this municipal bathing beach and use the ill-fated "Altalena" as their diving board. The munitions ship, which members of the now outlawed Irgun Zvai Leumi ran aground and tried to unload during a Palestine truce, was set fire by members of Hagannah last June.

At this moment the PRA is in the federal works agency.

Now take the three-man civil service commission which handles all government workers who are in the U. S. civil service system. The commission itself has 4,000 employees.

At this moment, because neither congress nor anyone else ever made it clear, all three commissioners share responsibility for the 4,000 employees of the commission. This spreads confusion and robs the commission of some of the time that ought to be spent on the whole, wide civil service system.

So, Mr. Truman suggests: The chairman alone should be responsible for the commission's employees. This will give the other two commissioners more time for their other work.

The same thing has happened in the five-man maritime commission, which has 6,500 employees, but whose main job is worrying about the nation's shipping.

Mr. Truman wants the chairman of the commission alone to have responsibility for the commission's internal doings, such as employees. That will leave the other four commissioners free to concentrate on shipping.

Take the post office department. Mr. Truman wants the postmaster general to have full authority over what goes on inside department. He doesn't have it now. For example:

Inside the department are the bureau of accounts and the office of purchasing agent. Although they're under the postmaster, they were given special powers by congress. The postmaster can't touch them.

So Mr. Truman asks congress for approval to wipe out the bureau and the office of purchasing agent and let the postmaster do what he thinks best about the jobs they've been doing.

The various plans of Mr. Truman, outlined very sketchily here, may not seem world-shaking. They're not. But they give a picture of how complex and twisted-around a lot of the government machinery is.

Mr. Truman will offer other plans this year, some next year. Putting the government's house in order is a long-time job.

First Woman Treasurer Takes Over

Washington, June 21 —(AP)—Mrs. Georgia Nese Clark, the Richmond, Kas., banker-businesswoman, today became the first woman to hold office as treasurer of the United States.

The oath-taking ceremony for Mrs. Clark, onetime actress with such performers as May Robson and Pauline Frederick, drew a

Batesville Man Shot to Death By Policeman

Batesville, June 22 — (AP) — A young service station operator was shot to death in a scuffle with two policemen here last night.

The victim was Tom Williamson, about 27, who was returning to his home from a barbecue with his wife and another couple. The two cars in which they were riding were stopped by patrolmen who wanted to know what the couples were doing out at about midnight.

Mayor Henry Chaney said officers Jess Long and Ernest Brookerson thought Williamson and the other man in the party, Alvis Bull, were intoxicated.

The mayor said the officers and the men became involved in a fight and that Long shot Williamson twice through the heart.

A coroner's inquest was sched-

Insects Are Bothering Gardens

Hempstead county gardeners are already reporting insects bothering crops. Home Demonstration Agent, Lorraine Blackwood says that handpicking is often the best way to control insects. By wearing gloves and dropping the bugs into a can of kerosene, hand-picking need not be such a distasteful chore, she points out.

One insect common in this area is the tomato hornworm. It is large, easy to see and usually few in number. Hempstead county gardeners find it less trouble to hand-pick them from a few tomato vines than to spray or dust all the tomatoes.

Another on is the squash bug which is hard to control by spraying or dusting; but hand-picking has been quite successful. The squash bug is a slender brownish-black bug about a half-inch long. It lays its large brown eggs in scattered masses on leaves of squash, pumpkin, melon, cantaloupes, and cucumber vines. Hand-picking the adults is best done by trapping. Mrs. Blackwood advises. A shingle or board is laid beside each plant. The bugs take shelter under these boards at night. Each morning the shingles are turned over and the bugs killed. The eggs can also be hand-picked quite successfully because they are in masses. Each egg mass destroyed eliminates a dozen or so possible pests. The simplest way to pick the eggs is to tear off the part of the leaf with the egg mass.

The harlequin bug is a pest of cole crops such as cabbage, turnips, mustard and collards. It sucks the plant juices, weakening or even killing the plants. The harlequin bug is a stinkbug three-eighths inch long, with bright red and black markings. The eggs are black and white in color and kegel-shaped. They are laid on end in DeQueen, June 22 —(AP)—A special local option for Sevier county was ordered today by county court Judge K. E. Doss.

The election was set for Tuesday, July 19.

Judge Doss ordered the election masses on the leaves where they can be easily seen. Both the adult bugs and the egg masses are easy to see and pick off states Mrs. Blackwood.
